

$81,000.00 TRIMMED FROM LEE CO. TAX BY BOARD

PRESENT PATROL SYSTEM IS KEPT BY SUPERVISORS

Board Retains System
By Vote of 12 to 11 Yesterday.

The fate of the Lee county road patrol system hung in the balance for a period of a little more than an hour yesterday afternoon, during which time Chairman Joseph Bauer of the road and bridge committee of the board of supervisors and Supervisor Charles Bradshaw engaged in a wordy conflict of figures and facts. When the arguments had ceased and a roll call vote was taken, the report of the road and bridge committee submitted at the morning session, providing for the reinstatement of the system was carried by a vote, 12 to 11. Members of the board voting against the reinstatement of the road patrol system were: Supervisors Richolson, Yenerich, Burhenn, Bradshaw, Trostle, Long, Avery, Glessner Brucker, Henry and Elde.

When the board reconvened at 1:30, Chairman Bauer of the road and bridge committee withdrew that part of his report to the board which provided for a tax levy of 25 cents. Supervisor Bradshaw of Brooklyn township led the fight against the road patrol system as it has been carried out and opened the discussion.

"Committee Laid Down."
"The road and bridge committee has laid down on the job. They were instructed by this board at the June meeting to bring in a report devising some scheme for handling the road proposition with less expense. They have failed to do this. The taxpayers in my township are objecting to the system as it is too expensive. From figures that I have gathered I find that the road and bridge committee has outstanding debts to the amount of approximately $6,000, a scarping project costing $1,200 and contracts for bridges to be built approximating $7,000.

"There is $26,000 left over for next year, and $19,000 more can be turned over, making a total of $45,000 practically for use next year. In 1921 a total of $19,194.33 was spent in this work. To August 1 an estimated sum of $59,627.72 will have been expended this year with $20,158 for the purchase of machinery. I am now informed that the road and bridge committee wants $20,000 more for machinery next year, a gravel pit and a stone crusher. These, no doubt will be needed if this report is adopted. These last mentioned will take over approximately $35,000 for road work. The burden is too much for the taxpayers as the levy for this amount is tremendous. I have received numerous letters from taxpayers who object to the system, one of these from one of the biggest taxpayers in the county."

Bauer Defends Committee.

In answer to this Chairman Bauer fired the opening gun of his argument by stating that the road and bridge committee had not laid down on the job as charged by Supervisor Bradshaw.

"Your committee was asked to prepare new plans for the carrying on of this work and did not," answered the representative from Brooklyn township.

"When at the June meeting the board asked the committee to draft a new plan, I put the matter up to the three new members of the road and bridge committee. They have been busy with their work and have given excuses for not turning in this report. Yesterday, the committee as a whole gathered and drafted the report which I have submitted to the board. In the first place I want it understood that the committee is not using all of this money for patrol work but is constructing new roads along with the other work. For the five months of the 1922 season we have expended $15,890.53 for patrol of county roads. We are caring for practically three-fifths of the roads of the county. We have graded 38 miles of road and up until Sept. 1, paid out for operation, $39,936.24. We expect to build new bridges and culverts at an expenditure of $5,000. Other bridges which will not be rebuilt but repaired will necessitate the expenditure of $2,000. The estimated bills for September will total, $5,000; for October, $4,000; for November, $2,000 and for December, $1,000. This makes a total of $66,136.24 for the nine months of operation. We have $11,331.50 for the 1922 tax levy and the valuation this year will be lower. The present system is all right.

Asks Co-operation.

"Last June when members of the board sought to dissolve the patrol system, the patrolman became discouraged and thought that he had no jobs. This has not had a good effect on the work. I believe that if this board would get together and work shoulder to shoulder with the road and bridge committee instead of trying to block the work, that the system can be carried out satisfactorily to all parties and that the taxpayers will be satisfied."

NEW ORLEANS IS SCENE OF COSTLY FIRE LAST NIGHT

$6,000,000 Damage is Estimated; Report Five Met Death.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

New Orleans La. Sept. 16.—It was estimated early today that the loss from the fire which raged along the water front for three hours last night destroying the long stretch of wharves of the United States government, commodity warehouse and vast quantities of army ordnance and commercial commodities would reach between five and six million dollars. Reports late last night that five lives were lost during the progress of the conflagration had not been confirmed early today. Members of the crew of the German freight steamer Elsa Hugo Stinnes declared that a sailor on that vessel was burned to death on the wharf when he attempted to board the ship, and that another sailor who jumped overboard was cut to pieces by the ship's propeller. Another report made to the police was that three members of the crew of the steamship Florence Luckenbach had jumped overboard and were thought to have been drowned.

SMYRNA HORROR WORSE THAN AT FIRST REPORTED

25,000 Christian Women and Girls Given to Turks.

BULLETIN.

London, Sept. 16.—"Twenty-five thousand Christian women and girls have been conveyed to the interior and distributed among the Turkish soldiers," says a dispatch to the Times from M. LasCaris, editor of Kosmos, a Smyrna newspaper, who has arrived on the island of Mitylene.

TURKS REJOICING.

Constantinople, Sept. 16.—(By the Associated Press.)—Renewed celebrations were held throughout Asia Minor yesterday to mark the sweeping Turkish victory over the Greeks. Friday is the Turkish Sunday, and the entire Moslem population ceased its wonted pursuits and repaired to the mosques to offer prayers of thanksgiving to Allah.

For the first time since 1453, when the Turks captured Constantinople, the Sultan went to the tomb of Mohammed the Conqueror in Stamboul and paid homage to the memory of his illustrious predecessor.

CITY IS RUINED.

London, Sept. 16.—(By the Associated Press.)—Succeeding dispatches from Constantinople, Athens and other centers of information in the Near East only tend to magnify the tale of the tragedy in Smyrna.

The greater part of the city is in ruins, laid waste by a conflagration of incendiary origin, and the flames, according to latest account, had reached the water front, where the quays were crowded with fear-crazed Christian refugees who fled to the city as the nearest port of escape from the Turks.

Many have thrown themselves into the water rather than run the risk of being burned alive or facing Mustafa Kemal Pasha's soldiery, drunk with victory and fired with religious fanaticism.

Horror Reported.

Others have not had the chance to choose, according to dispatches from Sublette township, is reported to be considering retirement from active life and resigning his office on the county board. When questioned yesterday afternoon, Mr. Brucker did not deny that he intended taking such action, and admitted that he would move from his farm south of Sublette in a few days to another farm located south of Franklin Grove.

Supervisor Brucker has served his township faithfully for a period of ten consecutive years during which time he has never been opposed for office. He has been honored by being elected to the chairmanship of the board and has also been appointed on many of the board's committees. He is at present chairman of the county home committee and is a valued member of many others. At the time he was elected to the board there were but two of the present members sitting with him, these being W. J. Edwards of Amboy and Joseph Bauer of Hamilton. Mr. Brucker states that he contemplates retiring from farming and politics and with his wife will move to their farm near Franklin Grove to spend the remainder of their days.

Landward from the city it is reported that all the villages are burning, and that the whole countryside has been devastated.

Meanwhile the Turkish forces in the north have continued their advance, and almost simultaneously with the news of their capture of Panderma, on the Sea of Marmora, comes the announcement that the British fleet in the Dardanelles has been ordered to prevent any attempt to cross the straits, and that no ships shall be allowed to concentrate for the purpose of transferring troops in a movement toward Thrace.

Jugo Slavia and Rumania also are watching any move in this direction, as they are opposed to the Turks again securing a foothold in Europe. While the Turks do not possess a navy, they control a swarm of light vessels, and have a call upon some larger ships in the Black Sea.

The Turks are not without support in their European ambitions. The Russo-Anglo treaty is understood to have been modified to cooperate with Mustafa Kemal in the capture of the Dardanelles in return for the freedom of the Black Sea, and the Moslem government is reported to have prepared for action all its forces in the Caucasian republics, and to be holding its Black Sea fleet in readiness. Russians born in 1901, hitherto exempt from service, have been called to the colors.

The British government is especially concerned over the neutrality of Constantinople and the straits, and it is reported that the French and Italian troops are also under orders to increase their vigilance in the neutral zone, and that some have already been landed at points hitherto unoccupied.

Haymarket Cases Form Basis Trials of Herrin Massacre

Marion Ill., Sept. 16.—(By the Associated Press.)—The prosecution in the Herrin mine killing trials will follow the procedure of the Chicago Haymarket Trials, it was indicated today when attorneys began familiarizing themselves with the 122nd volume of the Illinois Supreme Court decisions. Attorneys for the state, it was learned, will base their case on the contention that those who incited to riot are equally as guilty as those who actually fired the fatal bullets which took 22 lives on June 21 and 22 last in the vicinity of the Lester strip mine, near Herrin. The 26 prisoners held in the county jail on indictments for murder issued by the grand jury are being kept at the expense of the union miners, it was learned today.

Kiwanis Club to Hear Chicago Man

Louis Wallis of Chicago will address the Dixon Kiwanis club at their regular meeting next Tuesday upon the subject, "A Square Deal for Business." His talk shows in a very interesting way the relation between various questions now uppermost, including taxation, buying power of the people, city folks and farmers, capital and labor, and the danger of working class bolshevism. Each Kiwanian will be expected to bring a friend who is not a member of the organization to hear this remarkable address. Luncheon will be served in the parlors of St. Luke's church at 12:15, the address to follow a short business session.

Speeders' Court Continues Work

Four offenders have been arraigned, three on charges of driving without valid lights and one for speeding. Mrs. Mabel Holahan, William Ryan and S. A. Stromme paid $5 and costs for not having valid lights. Herman Trippler of Chicago was assessed $10 and costs for speeding.

BONUS BILL IS NOW IN HANDS OF PRES. HARDING

Whether Executive Expects to Veto It is Not Known.

BULLETIN.

Washington, Sept. 16.—(By the Associated Press.)—President Harding has definitely decided to veto the soldier bonus bill and will send his message to the house Tuesday, according to some of his close advisers who have talked with him recently.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Sept. 16.—The soldiers bonus bill, in congress in one form or another for three years, finally was today before President Harding.

The President's attitude toward it still was the one big question in the minds of both friends and foes. And it was one to which they expected an answer early next week.

In the usual course the first action of the executive would be to refer the measure to the Treasury department for an opinion. Secretary Mellon's attitude is well known. He has opposed such legislation largely on the ground that the federal treasury was in no condition to stand further drains upon it.

Should Mr. Harding send the bonus back to congress an effort would be made to override his veto, according to those who have had charge of it in the house and senate. Supporters believed far more than the necessary two-thirds majority in the house could be obtained, but they were not so certain about the senate.

If the issue comes in that body, the outcome may hinge on the number of senators absent from Washington. While the conference report was adopted yesterday by a two-thirds majority, 36 to 17, it required only one senator to pair one senator against, whereas in the vote to override it would require two senators to pair one opponent.

FRED LAWTON, PALMYRA, DIED DURING NIGHT

Embolism, Following Fracture of Leg, Probable Cause.

Fred Lawton, one of Palmyra township's best known farmers, born and raised in that township, passed away suddenly at 1 o'clock this morning while talking to his wife. It is presumed his death was caused by an embolism, the result of a fracture of his leg last Sunday. The attending physician holds the belief that a clot of blood gathered in the fractured member, made its way to the heart and brought death.

Last Sunday, in attempting to fix a leaky pipe under a wash bowl, Mr. Lawton slipped on the wet floor and the fractured leg resulted. Since that time he had been confined to his bed. This morning, while he was talking to his wife, the Grim Reaper suddenly took him.

Funeral services will be held at the Sugar Grove church Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. A. S. Moore, pastor of the Dixon Methodist church officiating. Burial will be at the Sugar Grove cemetery. A complete obituary will be published later.

She now refuses to discuss the killing.

LEVY IS FIXED AT $139,800.00 BY SUPERVISORS

No Salaries Cut But Expenses Are Trimmed in Estimate.

The board of supervisors reconvened at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon and such business as remained to be transacted was hurried through and the September session closed. The report of the finance committee was the outstanding feature of the closing session and while it was believed that a fight might start when the appropriations for the coming year were read, there was but one voice of discontent, this being Chairman Bauer of the road and bridge committee. He objected to the reduction in appropriation for the conduct of the road patrol system, but was satisfied to accept the appropriation provided the board had no objection.

The report provided for a total tax levy of $139,800 for the coming year. The feature of the whole report was the figures which showed that a reduction in the tax levy amounting to $81,000 had been made without cutting salaries of any of the county officers as has been done in some of the adjoining counties. The report of the finance committee was unanimously adopted.

Weekly Grain Review

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Sept. 16.—Wheat clouds in Europe have brought about a rally in wheat prices this week after a decline due largely to the strike settlement effected on many railroads. Compared with a week ago, wheat this morning ranged from 1 cent lower to 1 cent advance, corn was 1/2¢ off to 1/2¢ up, oats a shade down to a gain of 2 cents and provisions varying from 7¢ decline to an advance of 22¢.
Possibilities of a clash between some of the big European countries were responsible for the importance attached to war talk so far as the wheat trade was directly interested. Chances of such a clash were generally held to be remote, but the outlook was deemed serious enough to evoke

CHARGE ATTEMPT TO BRIBE AIDE; GUARD EVIDENCE

Cook Co. Prosecutor Charges Meddling in His Office.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Sept. 16.—Record of pending criminal cases were closely guarded in State's Attorney Crowe's office today, following disclosure of a $2,000 bribe which the State's Attorney said had been offered to one of his assistants for evidence against William Henry Harrison Miller, former member of Governor Small's cabinet, who is under indictment charged with trafficking in physicians' licenses when he was director of the state Department of Registration and Education. Miller was ousted recently by Governor Small who demanded the accused director's resignation.
When he received information of the alleged bribe Mr. Crowe ordered a hasty examination of all records, which he said were found intact. The case will open for trial soon, State's Attorney Crowe said.

Johnson, the complainants, the judge announced.

Ford Closes Plants as Protest on Boost in Cost of His Fuel

Detroit, Sept. 16.—(By The Associated Press)—As a protest against paying what he believes exorbitant prices for coal and steel, Henry Ford today began the process of closing up his huge industries.

With the suspension complete when the last shift of workers leaves the various factories tonight, approximately 100,000 men will have been rendered idle for an indefinite period.

The plants affected include the five factories in the Detroit area, and numerous assembling stations throughout the country. Other concerns, the output of which goes chiefly to the Ford company, also are expected to suspend operations.

SIXTEEN RAILROADS HAVE SIGNED PEACE PACT WITH STRIKERS

Bomb with Sputtering Fuse Found Under Gasoline Car.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Bloomington, Ill., Sept. 16.—What is declared to have been a bomb with a sputtering fuse attached was found under a tank car of gasoline near the Chicago & Alton round house here, it was reported here today. Twenty men were working at the round house at the time. Detectives employed by the railroad are making an investigation.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Sept. 16.—Sixteen railroads had signed separate agreements with various labor unions today through pre-war methods in vogue before the United States Railroad Labor Board was created as arbiter of disputes between railways and their employees.

These settlements, however, according to Ben W. Hooper, chairman of the board, do not repudiate the board but rather are "entirely in accordance with the transportation act" when the disputes were withdrawn from the jurisdiction of the board, the government tribunal believed that negotiations for settlements independent of the board, would be successful, Mr. Hooper said.

His comment referred to yesterday's agreement between the New York Central Lines and the train service brotherhoods, and other pending peace negotiations.

Following settlements with the order of railway conductors and the brotherhood of railway trainmen, the New York Central Lines opened negotiations today with the shop crafts for ending the shopmen's strike on the basis of the Warfield-Willard-Jewell plan. Separate agreements with the engineers', firemen's and switchmen's unions were in prospect, according to officials.

The Pennsylvania system was party to similar negotiations with rail unions at Cleveland and Pittsburgh. Among the larger roads which have signed agreements with the striking shop crafts were the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul; the Chicago & Northwestern and the Baltimore & Ohio.

Bert M. Jewell, head of the shop craft organization, said he did not plan at this time to go east for conferences with rail heads who said their negotiations were unaffected by terms consummated in Chicago this week.

Government Rests Case
Today brought a lull in the government's injunction proceedings before Judge James H. Wilkerson. Attorney General Daugherty and his aides rested their case on the strength of 600 affidavits supporting charges of violence, intimidation and destruction of property and attorneys for Bert M. Jewell, chief executive, and John Scott, secretary of the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor, will open the defense Monday, with four days for the defense and final argument before the existing restraining order expires.

Judge Wilkerson told the opposing lawyers that the restraining order will not be renewed when it expires September 21 unless the injunction hearing is completed then. In that case the unions would be free from its provisions.

MERGER OF BIG PACKING FIRMS RUMORED TODAY

Armour and Wilson to Combine Reported This Morning.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—In the absence of J. Ogden Armour, of Armour & Co., and Thomas E. Wilson, president of Wilson & Co., who were in the east, no official statement on published reports of a proposed meat packing merger was obtainable here today.

Mr. Armour and Mr. Wilson went together to New York on Wednesday. Mr. Wilson, it was said here, was expected to be in Washington today.

Reports published here were that proposals had been made for a merger of Armour & Co., and Wilson & Co., possibly to include the Cudahy Packing Co., and Morris Company.

E. A. Cudahy, president of the Cudahy Company denied that company was interested in the merger proposal. "We are not interested in the proposed merger," Mr. Cudahy said. "We are not doing any negotiating."

Mr. Cudahy said he had no knowledge of what the other packing companies were doing.

King Neptune Holds Court for Secretary Hughes at Equator

Neptune's Court in Session

New York
During the recent trip to Rio de Janeiro Secretary of State Hughes was an interested witness to the sacred rites of Neptune's Court. The ceremony was held aboard the Steamship Pan America, one of the record-making vessels operated by the Munson Steamship Line between the United States and South American ports.

Advices just received from Rio state that Secretary Hughes was vastly amused at the Neptune ceremony, and takes great pride in the diploma granted him by Father Neptune.

The Neptune ceremony is held aboard all the vessels of the Munson Line and occurs at the Equator. The Neptune ceremony had its origin in the early days of shipping. When a vessel crossed the "Line" all the sailors who had never made the passage previously were summoned for initiation. In the old days, after being sentenced by Father Neptune with punishment for having invaded his realm, the luckless candidate had a rope fastened about his waist and was tossed over the side of the ship to be hauled back again after he had been well submerged.

Nowadays the initiation is completed in the open air swimming tank, which is one of the features of the Munson Line fleet. The ceremony which Secretary Hughes witnessed, and which takes place on all crossings of the Equator, is elaborately staged and takes over several hours for its enactment. As the liner reaches the Equator word comes from the bridge that Father Neptune, King of the Seas, has been sighted. Presently the bewhiskered figure of Father Neptune, carrying a trident, clambers over the side. He is greeted by the Captain of the steamship in the presence of the assembled passengers and is presented with the key of the ship. Father Neptune then announces

This will be a busy season for Father Neptune aboard the Munson Line vessels plying to South America, for the reason that the Brazilian Centennial Exposition, which has just been opened in Rio de Janeiro, is attracting thousands of Americans.

PRESENT ROAD PATROL SYSTEM RETAINED BY SUPERVISORS FRIDAY

William Brucker of Sublette township was bitter in his views of the patrol system as it has been applied in his township. He charged that thistles eight feet high were growing along the sides of the highways and that as far as the patrol work in Sublette township was concerned, it was a failure and that the people in his part of the county have been slighted.

The finance committee presented a report with reference to the investment of a large sum of money which has been secured through taxation for the tuberculosis sanitarium fund. At the morning session it was suggested that this sum, which exceeds $40,000 be invested in government bonds. The committee to whom the matter was referred reported favoring the deposit of the amount in the banks of the county instead of being invested in bonds and securities.

Supervisor Yenicher stated that there was an amount of $19,677 in the county treasury representing surplus earnings of this office, which he desired to be transferred into the highway fund. His motion was unanimously adopted.

COMMON BARBERRY IS HIT HARD BY STATE-WIDE DRIVE IN AUG.

3,108 Bushes Destroyed By State and Federal Officials.

Urbana, Ill.—The common barberry population of Illinois was reduced by 3,108 last month, according to a report just submitted to Washington by Gordon C. Curran, Federal leader of barberry eradication forces in the state. This means, according to Mr. Curran, whose headquarters are at the College of Agriculture at Urbana, that there are now 3,108 fewer centers of black stem rust infection in the state than there were before.

Common barberry spreads the rust which annually takes a toll of millions of dollars worth of small grains. This year, rust losses probably were comparatively light, but last year rust destroyed 13,500,000 bushels of grain in Illinois.

Cook county had 1,432 of the bushes found in August. Of this number 1,655 were removed, making a total of 3,108 bushes destroyed in the state last month. Jo Daviess county was second to Cook, 850 having been found and removed. In Whiteside 375 were dug up. In Carroll 275, Ogle 175, DeKalb and Stark 100 each and from 1 to 30 in other places. Last spring these bushes distributed millions of black rust spores to neighboring fields of grain so that their removal is regarded as contributing importantly to the reduction of the future rust menace.

Barberry eradication has been in progress in Illinois since 1919. More work is being done this year than ever before owing to a Congressional appropriation of $350,000 of which $20,750 was apportioned to this state.

In ten northern counties every farm has been visited by federal field agents and a similar intensive survey now is in progress in Cook, Lee, Ogle and Whiteside. Barberries have been found in 66 counties, the number ranging from one or two to 10,000 in Kane, 11,000 in Du Page 18,000 in Cook and 31,500 in Lake. Since the campaign started 141,347 bushes have been found in Illinois, of which 127,568 have been removed.

Neptune orders that the neophytes be given the third degree for the invasion of his realm. The third degree is performed by the doctor and the barber attached to the Court of Neptune. In the case of male passengers taken her, or rather his, sent beside him. Then all passengers who are making their first trip across the Equator are assembled and one by one are brought before Neptune for sentence.

In the case of male passengers taken her, or rather his, sent beside him. Then all passengers who are making their first trip across the Equator are assembled and one by one are brought before Neptune for sentence.

The candidate is then taken in hand by others of Neptune's Court and plunged into the swimming tank, which is filled with salt water. At the conclusion of the initiation all the candidates are again brought before Father Neptune and are given a diploma certifying that they have been made citizens of Neptune's realm. The trumpets again sound and Father Neptune takes his departure over the side of the ship.

This will be a busy season for Father Neptune aboard the Munson Line vessels plying to South America, for the reason that the Brazilian Centennial Exposition, which has just been opened in Rio de Janeiro, is attracting thousands of Americans.

EX-PREACHER IS EXECUTIONER OF IOWA MURDERER

Iowa Pastor Did Not Sidestep Gruesome Duty Friday.

Fort Madison, Iowa, Sept. 15.—Eugene Weeks, convicted slayer of George Fodick, Des Moines grocer, was hanged at the state penitentiary here at noon today.

Winfred E. Robb, sheriff and former army chaplain, sprung the trap which sent Weeks to his death.

Last night Weeks requested that Orrie Cross, his convicted accomplice, who is scheduled to be executed October 27, be saved from the gallows.

In an interview with Des Moines newspaper men and the sheriff last night, Weeks declared he was innocent of the murder, adding: "You can hang me, I don't mind; but you will find out some day that you bumped off the wrong man."

He repeated his declaration of innocence on the gallows today.

Tilden Will Meet Johnston in Final

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 16.—William T. Tilden II, of Philadelphia, American champion and William M. Johnston, of San Francisco former title holder, today faced each other for the third time in a final round of a tournament for the lawn tennis singles championship of the United States. Early in the week Tilden was a slight favorite but Johnston's play has been so impressive that some experts lean slightly toward the Californian. Each has won the title twice.

"Big Bill" and "Little Bill" have met ten times in important tournaments and each has won five times.

CHIROPRACTIC

Is Not a Fad—It Is a Curative Science!

It makes no claim to be a panacea for all the ills of mankind.

But it IS a curative science that goes to the CAUSE of dis-ease and by removing the cause, makes you well.

This is not a wild, unsupported statement. It is a fact that is attested to by thousands right here in Illinois—among them many of your own friends.

Statistics show that 85% of all chronic cases, and 95% of all acute cases yield to Chiropractic.

Why Not Investigate It for Yourself?

Ask about it. Consult a competent Chiropractor. The principle is so logical and sound, and the results achieved so undeniable that your own common sense will be your best guide.

HELD PLEASANT REUNION AT J. Y. ZEIGLER HOME—

A more enjoyable or happy reunion of friends it would be difficult to record, than that which took place on Friday last at the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Y. Zeigler, when Dayton, Florida, tourists to the number of eleven met for an old time visit.

Typical Florida weather was on hand to greet the crowd, but with the aid of cooling drinks, ices and electric fans the day was very comfortably spent. At the noon hour a sumptuous dinner was served—covers being laid for twelve. In the party were Mrs. Oakes, Mrs. Pitcher, Mrs. Robbins and two daughters, all of Dixon, Miss E. G. Crowell of Los Angeles, Cal., Mrs. L. E. March of Glen Ellyn, Ill., Mrs. Mattheis of Chicago, and Mrs. J. L. Burroughs of this city.

The afternoon was concluded at the home of Mrs. Artz, where at 5 o'clock farewells were said and the party broke up, all wishing for many happy returns of the day.—Ogle County Republican.

W. H. M. S. HELD MEETING—

The W. H. M. Society held a very profitable meeting at the M. E. parsonage on Thursday afternoon.

The attendance was large and renewed interest was shown for the work of this year.

Mrs. A. D. George sang a very sweet solo, entitled "Grass and Roses." After the usual business Mrs. Worsley conducted the lesson for the afternoon, and she gave it in a very capable manner. She spoke of the orphan's homes, schools and hospitals, that have been opened and those that will be opened in the near future.

An abundance of flowers were brought to this meeting to be sent to the Mary Home.

After the program for the afternoon dainty refreshments were served and all lingered for a social chat, feeling it was good to get together again.

CRISP LETTUCE WITH PEANUTS—

Wash a bunch of two of tender head lettuce, drain and dry thoroughly, arrange on individual plates and sprinkle with fresh crisp peanuts that have been crushed by rolling with the rolling pin until like coarse crumbs. Serve with a French dressing passed at the table or with a good boiled dressing. Adding the dressing to the lettuce, if it stands any length of time, wilts it and destroys its attractiveness.

IF YOU ARE WELL-BRED—

You know that conversation is a social art and must be cultivated. Hence you do not constantly repress the speech of your children, but you teach them the value of conversation instead of prattle.

You converse with them as you would with older persons, drawing out their ideas and encouraging them to express themselves. Their ability to converse well will rob them of the self-consciousness that marks so many social failures.

MARRIAGE A LA MODE—

In Rumania girls begin at the age of 5 and 6 to work on their bridal finery and their "hope chests." The articles are put away as finished until such time as a suitor appears.

The suitor has the privilege of examining the trousseau, and if he does not consider it ample he may transfer his affections to more industrious maiden.

TO GIVE BENEFIT CARD PARTY—

A benefit card party will be held at the home of Mrs. Carrie Decker, 212 South Dement avenue Monday evening, Sept. 18, at 8 o'clock, the proceeds to go to the International Scholarship Fund being raised by the Woman's Relief Corps for the purpose of sending a "foreign born" to the American International College at Springfield, Mass., to educate him in civics and English, academic and college work.

At the base of the statue of the Goddess of Liberty in New York Harbor, there is a tablet placed there by the American people. It is the invitation of the American people to the foreign man to come to this land and make his home among us. Is it any wonder they have come and come by the millions? These men with their literature, music, science and industries? These men who are carrying on the greater part of our industries? The majority of the people who have come to our land are good people and susceptible to leadership and it is the ultimate purpose of this scholarship fund that after he is trained and has caught the vision of what our institutions stand for to send him out into the alien communities to educate and train his fellow men.

The Daughters of the American Revolution have a $5,000 scholarship for this worthy cause and the states from coast to coast are raising funds to carry on the work.

At the last National Convention held by the Woman's Relief Corps, a resolution was passed and the department officers of the various states of which Mrs. Carrie Decker is Senior Vice-President of the Department of Illinois have been requested to raise funds by means of which a National Scholarship of this nature can be established at the American International College at Springfield, Mass.

Remember Monday evening at 212 South Dement avenue.

STUDIES.

The Home Economics classes are larger this year than any other year.

The Freshmen Class was so large that it is necessary to make two sections. The third year class numbers twenty-two much larger than last year's class. We ought to have a number of good cooks by the end of the year. Don't imagine that the mothers will be sorry.

It has been necessary to install four new typewriters in the commercial department this year. This department of the High school has grown steadily in the last two years. Several students from the North Side are taking advantage of the commercial opportunities offered at the South Side High School. The Commercial Arithmetic classes have been transferred to the commercial department this year where they logically belong with Miss Gullion in charge.

The French students are busy making faces. For further explanation—they're only trying to screw up their faces so that they can get the pronunciation.

Miss Gurnsey has formed an Art Class for the 6th period Mondays and possibly 6th period Tuesdays. There will also be a class at the Red Brick school Mondays after school.

Elmer James in reciting in history remarked that the Pilgrims went to Ireland but didn't stay there because they didn't want their children to Dutch.

Miss Marks arranged her pupils alphabetically and Harold Hultz found his way beside Mary Hooker.

As the gentleman's name was called this remark was heard, "Lucky dog."

GENERAL NEWS

Benz Brenner was seen while attending the Buster Brown Entertainment Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Austin had the misfortune of losing a large bunch of keys. He would appreciate it very much if the finder would return them to him.

Among the ex-seniors of our Alma Mater who visited were: Mildred Conley, Helen White, Alice Welch, Claude and Edwin Curran and Paul Bollman.

Misses Hazel Greer, Josephine Trotter, Edith Ayers and Nellie Suter attended the Buster Brown free show. Misses Greer and Trotter were lucky enough to get souvenirs.

Harold Manning, a Freshman had the misfortune of breaking his right arm last week end.

Orville Smith and Arthur Koford, both of the class of '21, visited D. H. S. before going to college. The former entered Cornell College and the latter Carthage College.

More visitors to our assembly Friday, Misses Esther Gitt, Agnes Staine, Helen White, Paul Noakes and Lester Stockpole.

At last Rynd has come into his own since Arndt Hoegensen came into the D. H. S. Arndt is Rynd's double and we sincerely hope he inherits and forth. It ran something like this:

"Oh, hello, Sara, gee, I like your Dutch cut. Don't you think she looks stunning, Isabel?"

"Gee, what cute ear rings, Peggy, where did you get them, in a ten-cent store?"

"Gee, isn't Ellamere cute, tho?"

"I just know Benz will make dates this year."

"Great Valentino, isn't that new kid the peachiest looking?"

"Where did you go this summer?"

"What a cute dress and such adorable slippers. You didn't get them here, did you, Maggie?"

And so on and so forth and I noticed particularly that the girls drowned out the boys.

Now and then a Freshman would parade in—hair soaped and standing straight up, trousers rolled and a sox rolled down with "No-metal-touches-you" showing, coat, shirt and jazz bow on backwards, with a face looking like a Sella-Photo clown and a seven days' rain.

All of a sudden the gong sounded and in came Mr. Lancaster. Ed Coffey asked me to sit with him. Isn't Ed the nicest boy? I noticed the loss of the red neckwear and inquired about the subject.

"Wal, Ed drawled, 'I guess an Irish green like your coat matches a blue shirt better.'"

I always knew Ed would own up to his Irish. By the way, I miss Leo and Ed Quinn. Where are they?

Why the general laughter? Now I see a new Keenan in to start trouble. I hear he is the most promising of the family.

Hush, Mr. Lancaster is introducing the teachers.

"For the benefit of the babies." (I think this came from Ed.)

"Practically all our old faculty except for two—Miss Marsden who is replaced by Mrs. Lazier and Mr. Stearns, whose place we filled with a very good looking Mr. Austin."

I was far from the Freshmen but near enough to hear one girl say, "I know I'll like him because he has a pretty shade of pink in his waist."

(If thing she meant shirt waist.) Turning around to look at Mr. Austin's pink waist, I noticed Miss Klontz for the first time this year. Say, doesn't she look stunning in goggles? Oh, boy! She and Deming agree on the matter of spectacles.

Classes were called, so I spent my time visiting them. Aren't they crowded, tho? I believe if Carnegie had lived long enough to put up a new D. H. S. he would surely go to heaven for his good deeds in life.

In the afternoon school was dismissed but I had an invitation to come the next day.

Tuesday I came again. (Now, Freshmen, you surely remember me.) This is the day many notable things happened in the Dixon history of the year '23.

I noticed Miss Gullion wore her diamond on the wrong hand.

2. Mrs. Lazier has an injured thumb.

3. Freshmen got lost.

4. Economics isn't a snap.

5. Hot weather is bad for school so early dismissals for the day.

The Dixon weather was so hot I decided to go to the mountains and cool off, then come back.

I came back just in time to get this "waste of time" in the paper. But this is what I have learned:

ARE YOU A COLUMBUS?

Pecos, New Mexico, was a flourishing city nine centuries before Columbus discovered America. So say the scientists, headed by Dr. A. V. Kidder who are excavating the buried ruins of this ancient community.

Pecos in the year 600 is pictured as a walled city, housing a cultured, philosophical people with a democratic form of government. In a good many ways their civilization was highly advanced. Some of the houses were three stories high.

Apparently the people of Pecos "beat Columbus to it" by 1000 years in "discovering" America.

Columbus really arrived late in the day, if the claims of other countries are believed.

The Chinese insist that their Buddhist explorers visited America in the year 432 and that in 464 Hoel-schin's expedition of Chinese penetrated as far as San Blas, Mexico.

In 995 Bjarni, the Norwegian, was driven out of his course and sailed along what apparently was the eastern coast of Canada, in sight of land.

Eight years later Thorwald, the Scandinavian, is believed by some historians to have explored Long Island and the New England coast, being buried on the shore of Massachusetts Bay after being killed by Indians.

Others who left evidence, well worth considering, that they visited America ahead of Columbus, were Thiodinn of Iceland, Madoc of Wales and Nicolo Zeno.

After all, what difference does it really make, who discovered America first? The Aztecs already had a high type of civilization when the Spanish adventurers arrived with fire and sword.

As a matter of fact, America in this year 1922 is not more than 10 per cent discovered. Most of it is known geographically, but the real America—natural resources and potential powers—still awaits finding.

Each of us, whether in a big or small way, is an explorer, gradually discovering America. Every real American is a Columbus.

GERMAN MARKS

Now that German marks are cheaper than high-grade wall paper, speculators again are swinging to them in a big buying movement.

The obliging German government promises that there will be plenty for all. Beginning Oct. 1 the Reichsbank will print 4,000,000,000 paper marks a day.

For large investors it is rushing plates to print marks in denominations of 500,000 each, so that amateur speculators can carry around a few billions, to show their friends the mortgage they have secured on the future, without tiring their muscles or tearing out the linings of their coats.

On Sept. 1, German paper money in circulation totaled around 250,000,000, 600 marks.

The presses have been turning out 2,600,000,000 new marks a day since then.

Presuming that the presses are idle on Sundays, to prevent them from melting or getting hot-boxes, about $15,000,000,000 paper marks will be in circulation Oct. 1 when the new presses get started with their output of 4,000,000,000 a day.

By the end of the year, some 600, 000,000,000 marks will be on the market, so don't burst a blood vessel trying to get to the bargain counter.

Those 600,000,000,000 paper marks —if they could return to par, "as investors" hope—would be worth $142, 500,000,000.

That is twice as much as Germany's national wealth before the war and about six times her present national wealth, making allowances for what has been taken from her by war.

The "easy mark," buying marks for a rise, admits that he never expects the mark to return to par, "but a rise, ever so slight, with me holding millions of them—" and so on.

As John Moody points out in the American Magazine, the Germans may not repudiate the mark, but the mark already has within a hair's breadth repudiated itself out of existence by attaining nearly absolute worthlessness.

The Germans, in their own country, are discarding the mark in business transaction and reverting to barter and the use of foreign currencies, especially the American dollar.

The buyer whose appetite for marks is gluttonous need not worry because only 300,000,000,000 marks will be in circulation by the end of the year. Never forget, other years lie ahead.

The more the mark falls, the more Germany's profit on the deal. Eventually she gets all, like the "kitty" in poker.

DEATH

A man dies on an operating table in St. Bartholomew's hospital in London. Surgeons continue their cutting.
They reach and begin to massage the pericardium, membrane enclosing the heart.

In half an hour the heart begins beating normally. The patient does not regain consciousness. But his heart continues beating 24 hours, when it stops forever.

This is not pulling a man back from the grave. But it is mighty close to it.

LIFE

Life is a down-and-up flow of energy from the sun. In a nutshell this is the "kateracy-energy" theory announced by Dr. F. C. Eve, eminent British scientist.

He makes many important new points. But, in the main, it is an old theory. For at least a generation, certain scientists have believed that all life on earth is merely a flow of energy from the sun and its dissipation back to its source. The ancient sun-worshippers had a similar notion.

Dr. Edward Baly, English chemist says we may some day have bottled sunshine. We already have it—coal.

BOOZE

Henry Ford says he will fire any employee with liquor on his breath, on his hip or in his cellar at home.

Ford bans booze because it recently has been causing many accidents in his Detroit plant. This seems like old times. John Barleycorn was doomed first as a Safety First measure. The sentence was approved by Supreme Judge Industrial Efficiency. That's the real reason liquor no longer can be sold—openly.

BIRD-MEN

The Booth-racer (navy BR airplane), which is entered for the Detroit aviation meet in October "draves up its feet like a bird." That is, the landing gear, wheels and all, during flight, are pulled up into the body of the machine to lessen air resistance.

In this instance, and in the gliding contests, you see flying swing back to imitation of birds. Logical, for the most perfect flier is the bird. And man cannot improve on nature.

MONEY

Bankers check up and find that 26,637,831 Americans have savings accounts, better than one for each family.

The savings total around $17,000, 000,000, which suggests that the proverbial thrift of the French may lag behind ours.

American savings accounts are twice as much as the total amount of money in circulation, plus all our gold. And more billions are banked in commercial or checking accounts.
Apparently each dollar shows up several times as a bank deposit. Frequently we deal with credit when we think we're handling the actual cash.

Every dollar in the country is changing hands seven times a month.
Bank clearings in August exceeded $30,000,000,000, or more than seven times as much as the total amount of money in circulation.

If you can hang onto a dollar four and a half days, you are doing better than the average.

HATREDS

French artists vote overwhelmingly to permit German and Austrian artists again to exhibit their paintings in Paris salons. Firmin Gémier, France's leading actor-manager, says art is international. He welcomes German performers back to Paris.

Hatred is dying out in Europe, you reflect.

Maybe so—among the people. But not among politicians. French government tells the League of Nations that she cannot reduce her army, now 690,000. However, that is more fear than hatred, though the two are psychological twins.

LOCKED

Walter Newman, shell-shocked Canadian war veteran, sees a woman in an auto plunge over a cliff at Niagara Falls. The tragedy instantly restores his memory, which had been a blank.

Brain oddities like this make you wonder if dull people are alert and intelligent "underneath" in the sub-telligence and keep it from asserting itself in earth life.

tion but can't express it."

MONEY

grancy in Omaha, says the telegraph wire. If your memory is keen, you presently recall that he was "Lucky" Baldwin's famous jockey who cleaned up $100,000 on one race in Chicago in 1894.

Men rise fast in America. And when they fall, the descent is even more

New life insurance for the first half of this year totaled $3,143,000,000, as compared with $2,957,000,000 for the corresponding period of 1921. There are many signs that we need more life insurance this year.

Common Sense Ways to Keep Well.

OUTDOOR LIVING

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP.

Good ventilation in the home is a very important factor in connection with right living, but the air in the best ventilated home is not as good as regular outdoor air.

Those who spend much time in the open enjoy the best health.

It is a great advantage to spend the summer in camp, or living in the country as much as possible.

However, it is not always possible to choose one's own climate. After all, there is fresh air in any locality to be had for the taking.

The prejudice against damp air greatly exaggerates its evils. True, dampness of air is disadvantageous, but out-of-doors air, even though foggy and damp, is better than in-doors air.

Observations have shown that in schools conducted out-of-doors the pu-

FLAP-DOODLE BECOMES A DONKEY.

The pretended wizard looked up slyly.

In marched Nancy and Nick to the Dingle Dell where Flap-Doodle, the mischievous fairy, was pretending that he was a wizard.

"Well, my dears," said the pretended wizard, rubbing his hands together and bowing and scraping until his long beard touched the ground, "What can I do to serve you?"

"Please, sir," said Nancy, never dreaming that she was talking to Flap-Doodle himself, "we are hunting for the Fairy Queen's wand. Flap-Doodle stole it. Can you help us?"

"Sure," declared the pretend wizard.
"I'll just call my pet donkey and he'll take you anywhere you wish to go. Flap-Doodle cannot be far away."

"Oh, we don't need a donkey," declared Nick. "We have our magic Green Shoes which will take us anywhere."

"Flap-Doodle, or I should say, the pretend wizard, shook his head. "No good," said he. "Your Green Shoes wouldn't know the way. If you don't go on Hee-Haw, you can't go at all."

Hee-Haw is my donkey. That's his name.

"All right, thank you," said Nancy then. "We'll go. The Fairy Queen's wand has been lost for ever and ever so long, and we must hurry up and find it."

The pretend wizard looked up slyly at the stick his parrot was perched on.
Little did the Twins think that it was the very thing they were looking for.

"Go inside, my dears," said the wizard, and when you see a nice little brown donkey, jump on and ride away."

No sooner were their backs turned than Flap-Doodle turned himself into a donkey and trotted up to his own front door.

FOOLISH LAND

By Berton Braley

(After re-reading Alice in Wonderland and Davy and the Goblin.)

I'VE been on a journey with Davy and Alice
To the land of nonsensical fun,
I've seen the White Queen in her ludicrous palace;
In the hat of the Goblin I've spun.
I've met with the whale that was talking with Davy,
And the Rabbit that Alice pursued,
And the Mock-Turtle singing by seas that were wavy,
And the Duches—egregiously rude!

I'VE sipped my cold tea with the Dormouse and Hatter,
I've met the White Knight in the wood,
I've heard Humpty-Dumpty's nonsensical chatter,<
And found it exceedingly good.
With Davy I've visited Robinson Crusoe,
And Sinbad the Sailor as well,
I've heard all their stories told over anew, so I've many gay stories to tell.

WITH Davy I've wandered, with Alice I've traveled
A whimsical, fanciful way,
I've seen miles of magical nonsense unraveled
In a land of fantastical play;
Afair from its dust and its lissie world and its malice,
Once more I've been readi grime,
And I've had a wonderful time!
I've been far afield from ting of Davy and Alice

LEARN A WORD EVERY DAY

TODAY'S word is—ACUMEN.

It's pronounced—a-ku-men, with the "a" short, as in "act," and accent on the second syllable.

It means—quickness of perception, penetration of mind, sharpness, sagacity, keenness, shrewdness, astuteness.

It comes from—Latin "acuere," to sharpen.

It's used like this—"While the Gal-nevertheless, because of their respect for his business acumen, they are

BASE HITS

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—(By the Associated Press)—Separated by only a half game, the New York Yankees and St. Louis Browns today will open a "little world's series" that promises to have a decisive bearing on the outcome of the American League race.

The Browns tightened the contest on the eve of the all important series by taking the last game from Boston 7-1 while the Yankees were stopped by the effective pitching of the White Sox youngster, Blankenship 2-1.

The westerners were expected to be strengthened for the big test by the return of their injured star, Geo. Sisler, who declared his determination to play regardless of his physician's orders. Urban Shocker was slated to do the hurling for the Browns while Bob Shawkey was Huggins' probable mound choice.

Giants Near Title
The New York Giants drew nearer to another championship by taking their seventh straight game and third in a row from Chicago, 7-6, while Pittsburgh lost to Boston, 4-1.

With a lead of six full games, the Giants need win only eleven of their seventeen games to clinch the pennant, even if the Pirates should capture all fifteen of their contests.

Three home runs by Catcher Henrich of the Cardinals, marked a slugging affair in which Philadelphia downed St. Louis 10-9. Henline duplicated a performance achieved by Ken Williams of the Browns in an early season game while Hornsby's thirty-sixth and thirty-seventh homers place him in a tie with Williams for the major league lead.

Detroit made a clean sweep of the series by taking the last game from the Philadelphia Athletics 3-2, while Metevier, a Cleveland recruit, out-pitched Walter Johnson and defeated Washington 6-5.

Cadore pitched Brooklyn to victory over Cincinnati 7-2, giving the Dodgers the odd game of the series.

Ty Cobb of the Tigers, had a perfect day at bat against the Athletics' twirlers making three hits, one of which was a double, in three times at bat.

Casey Stengel, of the Giants, bagged three hits in three times at bat against the Cubs.

Bob Meusel made half of the four hits gathered by the New York Yankees off Ted Blankenship, the Texas cowboy pitcher of the White Sox, and one of the blows was a homer which prevented a shutout.

Col. Houston, one of the owners of the Yankees, paid Charles A. Comiskey, White Sox owner, a social call during the series in Chicago, but it was said there was no significance attached to the meeting.

Pitchers Fred Fussell and Vic Keen have joined the Cubs. Fussell is a southpaw and played semi-pro ball in Denver. Keen was farmed to Wichita Falls, Texas, this season. He has won 14 games and lost 4 in the Texas League.

Babe Ruth swung at the ball with a vengeance in the final game against the White Sox. He did not get a hit. One of his drives was a high fly which almost hit the score board in center field. It was one of the longest hits ever made inside the park. Mostl ran back to make the catch and had to wait some time for the ball to come down because of its height. On another swing Ruth hit to Collins, who caught the ball on the first bound, but the speed was so great that it almost knocked Collins over.

The Sox will elevate their city championship flag, assisted by United States marines.

DIXON, ILLINOIS
SUCCESSORS TO ALEXANDER AND HOWELL

BEGIN HERE TODAY

When the English Secret Service sent the brilliant detective, who preferred to be known as ANDRE DUCHEMIN, to the south of France to avoid harm from the vengeful Bolsheviks, they unwittingly opened the way to more hazardous adventures. First he had rescued from robbery by Apaches.

ME. DE SEVENTE and her guests, among whom was the beautiful EYE DE MONTALAIS, American widow of a French officer and possessor of a magnificent collection of jewels.

While Duchemin was dining at the chateau, a strange automobile race takes refuge from a storm. It consists of:

WHITAKER MONK; his secretary, PHINUIT; the latter's brother, and JULES, who acts as chauffeur; and the COUNT and COUNTESS DE LORNGES.

Duchemin's suspicions are aroused when they cleverly inquire of Eve de MONTALAIS and learn that they are in the chateau. Above all, Duchemin is dismayed when they speak of the "Lone Wolf," the famous master criminal of earlier days. Did they know his secret? Duchemin is attacked again by the same Apache and severely wounded before being rescued by Eve de MONTALAIS.

GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER VIII Speaking of Love

In the course of two weeks or so Duchemin was able to navigate a wheeled chair, back on the little balcony outside his bedroom windows in the chateau de MONTALAIS, and even—strictly against orders—take experimental strolls.

The wound in his side still hurt like the very deuce at every ill-considered movement; and this constant reminder of outlaws and violence prompted Duchemin to urge Eve de MONTALAIS to place her jewels in safekeeping.

Eve de MONTALAIS laughed the charming, low-keyed laugh of a happily diverted woman.

"I surrender at discretion: I will do as you wish. I will leave Louise to take care of madame's ma more for a few days while I journey to Paris."

"Alone?"

"But naturally."

"You, a woman! Travel alone to Paris with a treasure in jewels? Ah, no! I would rather steal the jewels myself, convey them to Paris, put them in safe keeping, and send you the receipt."

"What a lot of trouble monsieur would save me, if he would only be so kind as to do as he threatens."

"And how amusing if he were arrested on route," Duchemin supplemented with a very smile.

"I am quite confident of your ability to elude the police, monsieur."

"Madame is too flattering; one is sure she is too wise to put so great a temptation in the way of any man."

"Listen, my friend," Eve de MONTALAIS flicked away her cigarette and sat forward, elbows on knees, hands faced, her level gaze holding his.

"It is true, our acquaintance is barely three weeks old; but the mask you hold between yourself and the world, lest it pry into what does not concern it, has been lowered when you have talked with me; and I have had eyes to see what was revealed."

"Ah, madame!"

"The nature of a man of honor, monsieur, simple of heart and generous, as faithful as he is brave."

Eve had spoken impulsively, with warmth of feeling unalloyed until too late. Now slow color mantled her cheeks. But her eyes remained steadfast, candid, unashamed. It was Duchemin who dropped his gaze, abashed.

With a troubled smile he said: "I would give much to be worthy of what you think of me, madame. And I would be a poor thing indeed if I failed to try to live up to your faith."

"You will not fail," she replied. "What you are, you were before my faith was, and will be afterward, when."

She did not finish, but of a sudden recollected herself, lounged back in her chair, and laughed quietly, with humorous appeal to his sympathy.

"So, that is settled: I am not to be permitted to take my jewels to Paris alone. What then, monsieur?"

"I would suggest you write your bankers," said Duchemin seriously, "and request them to send you two trusted men—to guard you on the way."

"But why? You have been so persistent about this matter, monsieur. Ever since that night when those curious people stopped here in the rain... Can it be that you suspect them of evil designs upon my trinkets?"

Duchemin shrugged. "Who knows."

CHAPTER IX The Blow From the Dark

In short, Monsieur Duchemin considered the chateau de MONTALAIS one of the most agreeable of human estates.

But now an end. Tomorrow the detectives commissioned by Madame de MONTALAIS's bankers would arrive. Tomorrow Eve would set out on her journey to Paris. Tomorrow Andre Duchemin must walk forth from the chateau de MONTALAIS and turn his back on all that was most dear to him in life.

On that last night, Eve smoked only one cigarette with Duchemin in the drawing room after dinner, then excused herself to wait on Madame de Seville and finish her packing.

"I shall miss you, monsieur. The chateau will seem lonely when I return."

"And the world, madame," said Duchemin—"the world into which I must go—it, too, will seem a lonely place—a desert, haunted..."

"You will soon forget..." Chateau de MONTALAIS.

"Forget! When all I shall have left me are memories..."

"Yes," she said, "we shall both have memories..." And suddenly the rich, deep voice quoted in English: "Memories like almighty wine..."

She offered to disengage her hand, but Duchemin tightened gently the pressure of his fingers, bowing over the subject of their harping on the subject of—

"Forget! When all I shall have left me are memories..."

"We shall see each other in the morning—to say au revoir. With us, monsieur, it must never be adieu."

She was gone; but she had left Duchemin with a ringing heart that would not let him sleep when he had gone to bed.

Till long after midnight he tossed restlessly, bedeviled alternately by melancholy and exhilaration.

He heard the clock strike two, and shortly after, in a fit of exasperation, lighted the candle, found his book, and fumbled vainly for a cigarette.

What greater folly could there be than to wait a cigarette and do without one when there were plenty in the drawing room, to be had for the taking? He rose and left his chamber.

Shielding the candle flame with his hand, he gained the drawing room as noiselessly as a ghost.

The fire had died down till only embers glowed, faint under films of ash.

The cigarettes were not where he had expected to find them, near one end of a certain table. Duchemin put down the candlestick and moved toward the other end, discovering the box he sought as soon as his back was turned to the light. In the same breath this last went out.

He stood for a moment transfixed in astonishment. There were no windows open, no draughts. An insane thing to happen to one, at such an hour, in such a place.

He turned back to relight the candle. It was gone.

ORBITARY (Continued)

Anna Blackburn was born at Harmon, Ill. on April 25, 1886 the daughter of Peter Blackburn and Ellen Morrissey Blackburn, and died at the Katherine Betha Shaw Hospital in Dixon, Ill. on Sept. 9, 1922 at the age of 36 years, 4 months and 15 days.

Her illness extended over a period of several months but it was not until a month ago when she grew worse so that she was removed to the hospital so that the best of care could be given her. The ever faithful Dr. Murphy did everything known to the medical profession, hoping that he might save her longer for her family but his efforts proved of no avail and she answered the call of the Angel of Death at 5:15 o'clock on last Saturday afternoon with the prayer on her lips: "Jesus, Mary and Joseph care for my baby."

The deceased was married to William J. Long at Harmon on Feb. 21, 1906 and to this union were born one daughter, Dolores age 15 years, and three sons Hubert, age 9 years, Francis age 5 years and William Jr., age 13 months. Besides her husband and family she leaves to mourn her passing, her father, Peter Blackburn, Sr. of Harmon, six sisters, Mrs. Michael Finn, Mrs. John Dempsey, Mrs. Patrick O'Malley and Mrs. Edwin C. McCoy, all of Walton; Mrs. Oliver L. Gehant of West Brooklyn and Miss Gertrude Blackburn at home, and four brothers, John, Peter, Jr., Edward and Thomas Blackburn, all of Harmon.

Her girlhood days were spent in Harmon for it was not until after their marriage that the family moved to West Brooklyn. This was about 15 years ago. During her young years of residence in that vicinity she has made a host of friends, by her kind ways and loving disposition. These people feel that one of their very best citizens has been taken away and their sympathy is joined with that of the good people of Harmon in being extended to the sorrowing relatives.

Funeral services were held from the home of her father near Harmon at 8:30 o'clock and at St. Flannan's church in Harmon at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning with burial in the Blackburn family lot in the Catholic cemetery at that village beside the grave of her mother who preceded her in death 8 years ago. Father Krug of West Brooklyn officiated at the services, being assisted by Father Moore of Harmon and Father Flynn of Dixon. Solemn Requiem High Mass was celebrated for the repose of her soul followed by the usual funeral service of the Catholic church. The society of Christian Mothers and St. Anne's Altar Society of West Brooklyn attended in a body and escorted the remains of their deceased member to its last resting place. The church was not large enough to permit the friends and relatives in attendance to enter, so many being present. The funeral procession was nearly two miles in length. Nearly every one from West Brooklyn was in attendance, and many from Dixon and adjoining towns, and all were intermingled with those from Harmon in paying a last tribute to a kind, friend and good mother.

Mr. Oester is a former West Brooklyn boy and is at present employed in the Q depot at Aurora and will no doubt make a model husband. Miss Jeanguenat has resided in this community all her life and has been engaged as school teacher in the local school for the past four years.

An erroneous report has been circulated that band concerts have been discontinued in our town but the boys assure us they will give several more yet.

J. D. Gehant spent several days the forepart of the week in Melroe on business pertaining to his implement business.

Joseph E. Vincent suffered a fractured left limb last Saturday morning when he fell from the roof of his home. Mr. Vincent was replacing the worn wooden shingles with new asbestos ones and the boards which he had nailed to the roof as foot rests gave way, letting him fall a distance of about 18 feet. The fracture is just below the hip and it will be some time before Joe will be able to be about again.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Wigum returned to their home at Aurora after a week's visit here on their vacation. Mrs. Minnie Hildman and daughter, Miss Lella are here from Rockford and are spending a few days visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Kate Tressler.

The teachers of the public school are considering engaging a lyceum course for the benefit of the school this winter.

Anna Blackburn was born at Harmon, Ill. on April 25, 1886 the daughter of Peter Blackburn and Ellen Morrissey Blackburn, and died at the Katherine Betha Shaw Hospital in Dixon, Ill. on Sept. 9, 1922 at the age of 36 years, 4 months and 15 days.

Her illness extended over a period of several months but it was not until a month ago when she grew worse so that she was removed to the hospital so that the best of care could be given her. The ever faithful Dr. Murphy did everything known to the medical profession, hoping that he might save her longer for her family but his efforts proved of no avail and she answered the call of the Angel of Death at 5:15 o'clock on last Saturday afternoon with the prayer on her lips: "Jesus, Mary and Joseph care for my baby."

The deceased was married to William J. Long at Harmon on Feb. 21, 1906 and to this union were born one daughter, Dolores age 15 years, and three sons Hubert, age 9 years, Francis age 5 years and William Jr., age 13 months. Besides her husband and family she leaves to mourn her passing, her father, Peter Blackburn, Sr. of Harmon, six sisters, Mrs. Michael Finn, Mrs. John Dempsey, Mrs. Patrick O'Malley and Mrs. Edwin C. McCoy, all of Walton; Mrs. Oliver L. Gehant of West Brooklyn and Miss Gertrude Blackburn at home, and four brothers, John, Peter, Jr., Edward and Thomas Blackburn, all of Harmon.

Her girlhood days were spent in Harmon for it was not until after their marriage that the family moved to West Brooklyn. This was about 15 years ago. During her young years of residence in that vicinity she has made a host of friends, by her kind ways and loving disposition. These people feel that one of their very best citizens has been taken away and their sympathy is joined with that of the good people of Harmon in being extended to the sorrowing relatives.

Funeral services were held from the home of her father near Harmon at 8:30 o'clock and at St. Flannan's church in Harmon at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning with burial in the Blackburn family lot in the Catholic cemetery at that village beside the grave of her mother who preceded her in death 8 years ago. Father Krug of West Brooklyn officiated at the services, being assisted by Father Moore of Harmon and Father Flynn of Dixon. Solemn Requiem High Mass was celebrated for the repose of her soul followed by the usual funeral service of the Catholic church. The society of Christian Mothers and St. Anne's Altar Society of West Brooklyn attended in a body and escorted the remains of their deceased member to its last resting place. The church was not large enough to permit the friends and relatives in attendance to enter, so many being present. The funeral procession was nearly two miles in length. Nearly every one from West Brooklyn was in attendance, and many from Dixon and adjoining towns, and all were intermingled with those from Harmon in paying a last tribute to a kind, friend and good mother.

St. Louis, Mo.—"I was bothered with cramps and pains every month and had backache and had to go to bed as I could not work. My mother and my whole family always took Lydia E. RICHARD WALTON TULLY presents

Masquerader

The drama of Chilcote, leader of men and then the cutcast. And of Loder, the image of Chilcote, who takes his place—and his wife!

GUY BATES POST

The Drama of Great Denouements

It magnetises!
It entrances!
It thrills!
It stands as A MASTERPIECE AMONG BIG MOTION PICTURES!

From the famous novel by Katherine Cecil Thurston and the successful play by John Hunter Booth. Directed by James Young

For six years the world has waited to see "The Masquerader" in films—just as Richard Walton Tully presented it on the stage, just as Guy Bates Post created the dual roles of John Chilcote, M. P., and John Loder. Now all those things have happened at once. "The Masquerader" has come to the screen with redoubled force. It is as outstanding among motion pictures as it was among stage dramas. It grips, and thrills and fascinates in a way few productions on stage or screen have ever done. And, added to that, it is an artistic masterpiece. Directed by James Young with a cast of unrivalled ability to support Mr. Post, "The Masquerader" will be listed among the three finest pictures of the season... and it is doubtful if there will be any to surpass it.

Another real treat for our many patrons. This wonderful picture at regular prices.
